

Dr. Morris Receives Honorary Degree From Huron College

Dr. W. Morris

□ Dr. William S. Morris, Associate Professor of Philosophy, received an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree from Huron College, London, Ontario at their Spring Convocation on May 3.

The honor is in recognition of Dr. Morris' many years of service as professor and head of the Department of Philosophy of Religion and Ethics at Huron and for his contribution to the growth of the college's library. Huron is one of three denominational colleges affiliated with the University of Western Ontario.

Dr. Morris also addressed the theological graduates banquet.

Dr. Morris received his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago Divinity School in 1955 and joined Huron college's philosophy department the same year. In 1956 he was named acting head of the Department.

During his 13 year interim at the college, he was also visiting lecturer in the Faculty of Divinity at McGill University. He became interim Deacon of Theology at Huron in 1961 and the following year he took a one year sabbatical at the University of Oxford, studying under Professor Ian T. Ramsay. He joined Lakehead University's academic staff in 1968.

Dr. Morris is a member of the American and Canadian Philosophical Associations, the British Institute of Philosophy and the Canadian Theology Society. His numerous articles on religion and ethics have been widely published in Canada, Britain and the United States. He is presently preparing articles and an eventual book on his special field of study, theologian Jonathan Edwards.

AWARDED RESEARCH GRANT

□ A continuing research grant to facilitate a survey of teenage drinking in Northwestern Ontario has been awarded to Dr. Alfred A. D. Asimi, associate professor of sociology. The results of Dr. Asimi's study are now being processed and should be available for release in September.

The $2,000 award was one of 14 grants of varying amounts made to scientists in seven provincial teaching centres by the Addiction Research Foundation of Ontario.

In announcing the awards, Executive Director of the Foundation, H. David Archibald stressed the need to "stimulate scientific work on as broad a front as possible and investigate all pertinent aspects of alcohol and other drug dependence".

... And The Walls Came Tumbling Down

□ The University Centre Building is having one of its walls "rearranged". Workmen last week began destruction and reconstruction of the wall adjoining the Roman-style agora in the Centennial Building. The expanse of windows in the faculty lounge and board room has already become a wall of blocks. The student Placement office wall has become the new entrance into the spacious agora while the Dean of Students office will become an entrance to a balcony across the agora courtyard to the third level of the administrative wing.

The program has also necessitated a number of changes in location. The faculty lounge has been temporarily moved to Room 1149, Wing D while the Dean of Students, Student Placement and Student Housing offices will be temporarily located in the social centre of the new student residences.

The Alma Mater Society offices are also affected by the program. They will be located in the Ponderosa from May 8 until September.

LEARNED SOCIETIES MEETING

□ More than 5,000 delegates representing 36 scholarly associations and societies will attend the annual meeting of the Learned Societies at York University from June 1 to 17.

Residences, meeting rooms and common rooms on both the Glendon and York Campuses will be at the disposal of the delegates.

An unusual exhibit of contemporary North American art will be on display for the duration of the meeting. In addition, delegates will be entertained by members of the performing arts in a different program, "Every Night at Nine".
