DRUG SURVEY IN NWO BY DR. ASIMI

●Dr. A. Asimi, Associate Professor of Sociology at Lakehead University recently reported that a committee on drug abuse established earlier this year at LU has faded out - "Almost out of existence," he commented.

The purpose of the committee was mainly to help those young persons who may need it, with information about the effects of drugs. Some of the members of the committee have helped Dr. Asimi in his survey of teenagers and drugs in Northwestern Ontario.

"I am going to try to set up another (committee) but of a different kind - inconspicuous, informal and more related to other organizations in the community," Dr. Asimi said.

Preliminary results of the survey conducted by Dr. Asimi involving 2,500 teenagers in eight major communities in Northwestern Ontario, indicate that up to 15% of the teenage population try drugs and up to 11% experiment with glue sniffing or inhaling other similar substances. Another 10% to 12% of those who have not tried would like to try if and when they can find the opportunity. The age level at the first experience with drugs varies, but it is revealing to note that around 10% of the experimentors had their first contact with drugs below the age of 10.

Dr. Asimi reports: "This is the general picture of the drug scene in Northwestern Ontario. Obviously the numbers involved are not large, however the seriousness of ●Dr. K. J. Charles, Chairman of the Department of Economics, will be returning to the United Nations in New York this summer on a fixed-term appointment as Economics Affairs Officer. While at the U.N. he will assist the Centre for Development Planning, Projections, and Policies, of the Economic and Social Affairs, in its research connected with the preparations being made for the Second Development Decade.

This is the third consecutive year that he has received such an appointment. During his first appointment, he prepared a report on "Capital Efficiency in Developing Economies". Last year his research was in the area of "Imbalances in Economic Development".

Dr. Charles will leave for his U.N. assignment on May 1, 1970 and will be returning to Lakehead University at the beginning of September.

the issue in other respects can hardly be doubted. Instead of seeking to control drug behavior through thwarting its expression or fighting its symptoms, we should concentrate on identifying the underlying causes and try to remove them even though the process may be long and hard."

He continued: "...a beginning should be made with concerned individuals in their own families (apparently there are a number of such persons in each community.) From families, the change will spread to neighborhoods... Surely, there is need for concern, but the spirit of 'crisis' must be avoided. Such a spirit prevents a cool and long range perspective."

Dr. Asimi is continuing his research into more vital areas of the issue and is willing to cooperate with those who may wish to involve themselves in the task in the university or in the regional communities.

On Exams... "The test of a first-rate intelligence is the ability to hold two opposed ideas in the mind at the same time, and still retain the ability to function." (F. Scott Fitzgerald said that in "The Crack-Up"-1936)

● Final examinations are now in progress at Lakehead University for both full and part-time students.

By April 29, the main inhabitants of LU's hallways, cafeterias and classrooms will be paper-marking professors, the ever-present administrative staff, custodians, and of course, the tens of secretaries who keep the University running smoothly.

The lull in academic studies will only be temporary, however, since nine intersessional credit courses will begin on May 10 and run until June 23. These courses were conducted for the first time last year.

Regular Summer Session courses will draw hundreds of students to the campus from July 1 until the middle of August, and then the 1970-71 academic year begins all over again!
