MASS SPECTROMETER

□ A delicate instrument which enables researchers to determine the composition and structure of various materials has been installed at Lakehead University. The Hatachi RMU-7 Double Focusing Mass Spectrometer will be used by chemists, physicists, geologists, biologists and material technologists in both applied and pure research. Members of the Chemistry Department's academic staff are now conducting research programs which require the information the instrument provides. The instrument enables the operator to determine what certain materials are; whether or not they are pure; their chemical structure and composition and other related questions. Mass Spectrometers are used by scientific researchers in most major Canadian Universities and oil industry laboratories.

FROM THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS' MINUTES

ADVISORY COMMITTEES FOR UNIVERSITY SCHOOLS

□ A recommendation was passed whereby advisory committees would be constituted for each University School program. Persons appointed to these committees would serve a two-year term plan and be eligible for an additional two-year term. Each committee would include 11 members: two members appointed by the president; two by the Executive of the Professional Association; two by the Director of University Schools; and two by the Chairman of the School in consultation with the Director of University Schools. In addition, the President, the Director of University Schools and the Chairman of the School concerned act as ex-officio members.

All appointments are subject to ratification by the Board of Governors. The Advisory Committees are intended to help the academic staff design courses which are as practical as possible and yet flexible enough to meet the changing needs of industry and society.

SHOPPING MALL

□ Dr. Tamblyn stated that a meeting was held with a number of local merchants to discuss the concept of a shopping mall.

Under the Shopping Mall plan, a tunnel would be built to connect the Food Services and the existing tunnel between the library and the university centre building. The tunnel would be enlarged to incorporate four or five stores. Rental payments of around $4.50 per square by the stores would be necessary to finance the tunnel itself and the stores. The merchants, however, stated that such a figure was unrealistic and that they couldn't even consider any proposal over $3 per square foot. Dr. Tamblyn stated he would ask the Planning Department to see if a simpler version of the Shopping Mall could be designed to minimize costs.

Dr. Tamblyn also stated that the students were keen on having such a shopping mall and were prepared to invest $20,000 from their accumulated surplus funds to help the project proceed. An additional $25,000 was available from the prepayment by the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce for the rental of their quarters over a five year period.
