

Convocation

JOHN BARFOOT MACDONALD

Dr. J. B. Macdonald, D.D.S., M.S., Ph.D., F.A.C.D., LL.D., F.I.C.D., D.Sc., is a dentist and bacteriologist turned administrator who retains a lively interest in his original area of specialization, the health sciences.

His name has recently been very much in the news with the publication of the report on The Role of the Federal Government in Support of Research in Canadian Universities, prepared for the Science Council and the Canada Council by a study team headed by Dr. Macdonald. Prior to that, he was President of the University of British Columbia for five years. His present role is as Executive Vice-Chairman of the Committee of Presidents of Universities of Ontario.

Dr. Macdonald received the degree of D.D.S. with honors from the University of Toronto in 1942, his M.S. in bacteriology at the University of Illinois in 1948, followed by his Ph.D. in the same field from Columbia University in 1953. He holds honorary degrees from Harvard University, the University of Manitoba, Simon Fraser University and the University of British Columbia.

Beginning as a Lecturer in Preventive Dentistry at the University of Toronto in 1942, combining this with private dental practice, Dr. Macdonald was later Assistant, then Associate, then full Professor of Bacteriology at the same University. He later moved to Harvard where in 1956 he became Professor of Microbiology at the Harvard School of Dental Medicine, becoming Director of Postdoctoral Studies at the School four years later.

Among the many health-science affiliations that Dr. Macdonald at present holds are the following: Consultant to the Donwood Foundation, Toronto; Chairman, Commission on Pharmaceutical Services, Canadian Pharmaceutical Association; Consultant, National Institutes of Health; Consultant, Alcoholism and Drug Addiction Research Foundation, Toronto. He was also until very recently President of the International Association for Dental Research.
