Bob Gregor

recipient of the 1995 Alumni Honour Award

by David Heald, BA'84

Bob Gregor is the first to admit that his rise to being President of James River-Marathon, Ltd., is an anomaly. The position has traditionally been filled by professional engineers who have worked in various capacities in their respective paper mills.

But Gregor found his niche by working up through the ranks and by remembering the advice of his mother: "Any job worth doing is worth doing well."

This year the Alumni Association acknowledged Gregor's accomplishments by presenting him with the 1995 Alumni Honour Award for achievements in economic development and environmental concern, and for exceptional commitment to improving the quality of life in his community.

When asked about his reaction to winning this prestigious award, Gregor seemed more willing to pass the honour elsewhere than to wear the badge himself. "This is really a milestone to honour my parents. We were raised to strive and to succeed and so often reminded that 'God helps those who help themselves'."

Gregor's background in the administration of the company began in June, 1975, when he became Employee Relations Assistant. He would spend 14 years in the Human Resources Department, including six years as Department Manager, before moving into the President's office in 1989.

Since then he has proven his talent as a manager and motivator of people. In 1991, the pulp and paper industry hit record low market conditions. In order to keep the mill at Marathon running, it was necessary to reduce all operational expenditures. Gregor sat down with the representatives of the employee unions and presented a plan to reduce personnel costs by 20 per cent and forego indefinitely a negotiated wage increase. All non-union employees, including administrative staff, would be affected. It was during these difficult times that Gregor's years of building open, honest relationships were to become so important.

In other industries, if management was to ask all employees not to take their negotiated increase, the company might just shut down. And there are examples in the pulp and paper industry where such closures have occurred around those same contentious issues.

But at James River-Marathon, Gregor asked for, and got, that very support. Then, beginning in January, 1995, he rewarded his employees' faith in his management team by reinstituting portions of the deferred wage increase. In April the final portion was put in place.

The kind of cooperation that has occurred between management and staff at James River-Marathon is rare in industry because leaders like Bob Gregor are rare. Each year that he worked at the mill, he stuck to his principles. And each year more of his fellow employees became aware that Gregor was a man of his word - he was someone they could trust.

Gregor espouses employee empowerment as the key to a successful organization. He defines empowerment as providing staff with knowledge, training and skills, and then giving them the opportunity to apply what they've learned within the organization. When he served as Manager of Human Resources, Gregor introduced an apprenticeship program which insured that employees could grow within the company. He is a firm believer in setting out clear expectations and giving staff the satisfaction of striving to meet project timelines.

"My mother and father worked hard all their lives to give us the opportunities they didn't have."

Born in Sudbury, Gregor was raised and educated in Thunder Bay and first arrived in Marathon in the summer of 1969. His intention was to earn money during the summer to help pay for his education at Lakehead. The experience at the mill kept him coming back for three consecutive summers as he completed his BA in Economics and Political Studies in 1970. After another year of work, and one year of a pre-masters program in Political Studies at the University of Manitoba, Gregor thought he would return to Marathon one more time. He took the job of General Shift Relief, a basic labouring position which exposed him to many different aspects of the mill operation. In the fall of 1972 a position as a furnace helper was posted and Gregor was hired on as a full-time employee. It was then that he decided to stay and live in Marathon, thus starting a course of events which would bring Gregor to where he is today.

Throughout his career at the mill, Gregor maintained some key beliefs: "Earn trust and respect by keeping your word" and "If you say you will do something, do it."

Gregor credits his mother as a source of tremendous inspiration. "She always encouraged us to be involved in sports and other aspects of community life. My mother and father worked hard all their lives to give us the opportunities they didn't have."

When asked if it might be fitting as a tribute to his parents if we mentioned that two of his sisters were CEOs of major organizations, he said, "My only concern is that you would be leaving out my brother who is a captain with the Federal Fire Department at Thunder Bay Airport and my sister who is a Registered Nurse at Thunder Bay Regional Hospital/Port Arthur. They also have my respect and admiration for the successes of their own lives."

However, Gregor was not content to see this story run without a public statement of his recognition for the employees at James River-Marathon. "Without the cooperation and the sacrifices of the employees, there might not have been a company left for me to be President of!"

Gregor's work over the past 23 years has benefited James River-Marathon and the north shore community of Marathon. His success can offer a heartening example of how humble beginnings teamed with effort and commitment can produce admirable results.

George Merrill retires after 32 years at Lakehead

Dr. George Merrill has performed the role of Head Marshall at just about every Convocation since he joined the University in 1963. His interest in Convocation is "a manifestation of his genuine interest in students," says Lakehead's Registrar Pentti Paularinne. "He wants to be with them at a time when they are celebrating -- for their last hurrah."

Born and raised in a small town outside Boston, Merrill studied at the Shakespeare Institute in England and earned a PhD from the University of Birmingham. During his time at Lakehead he served as Dean of Residence and was active as both an actor and a director with Cambrian Players, a community theatre group which performed in the University Theatre.

This year, in appreciation of his special involvement with Convocation, the University presented Merrill with a replica of the University mace. They also presented him the title of Professor Emeritus.

Other professors retiring this year include Dr. Willem Baarschers (Chemistry); Dr. Edward Bauman (Psychology); Dr. Donald Carpenter (Social Work); Dr. Robert Farmer (Forestry); Dr. Gwyn Hughes (Physics); Dr. V.V. Paranjape (Physics) and Dr. John Warren (Physics). All were awarded the title of Professor Emeritus.

Editor's Note: Should any of our readers be interested in contacting George or any of the other professors retiring this year, the Alumni Office would be pleased to forward your cards, letters, faxes or e-mail messages.

"My life as a writer is dedicated to the exploration of the imaginative responses to being alive. Writing fiction provides me --- and other writers -- with the opportunity to articulate the experience of being alive in ways that reality itself cannot possibly provide. In the reality of daily life, we are assailed by the mess and by the mass of what we call necessity. The jumble of our emotions -- the confusion of the rat race -- the demands of having to make an increasing number of seemingly vital decisions. We fall in love. We don't fall in love. We make friends. We make enemies. We climb up five steps and fall back three. We want -- and most often cannot achieve -- happiness. There's no point lying about it: yes, there are wonders out there -- but some of these wonders are dragons."

--Timothy Findley, from his Convocation Address to the Class of '95

Convocation 1995

Two Anniversaries to Celebrate: Lakehead's 30th Thunder Bay's 25th

It seemed fitting this year, as Thunder Bay celebrated its 25th Anniversary, that Lakehead University should confer an honorary degree on the city's first mayor, Saul Laskin.

Joining him on stage at the Community Auditorium were author Timothy Findley, genetics researcher (and Lakehead alumna) Helen Donis-Keller, and engineering professor Monique Frize.

Annette Augustine, a former member of the Board of Governors and Co-Chair of the Music and Visual Arts Centre fund-raising campaign, was awarded the title of Fellow of the University during the morning ceremony.

Robert J. Gregor, president of James-River Marathon Ltd., received the Alumni Honour Award in the afternoon.

In addition, eight professors accepted the title of Professor Emeritus including Dr. George Merrill who, for many years, has carried the mace and led the graduands onto the Convocation stage.

Assistant Registrar Brenda Nelson says 1995 was another record-breaking year with close to 2000 students graduating.

After the morning ceremonies, faculty, staff, students and their guests were invited to join Chancellor Lois Wilson for a joint celebration in honour of two anniversaries: Lakehead's 30th and Thunder Bay's 25th.

The President's Perspective

Class Reunions - A Great Idea!

This past Friday evening Rita and I were the guests of the 1984-85 Forestry class at their 10-year reunion staged at the Lakehead University campus. A great time was had by all and an entire weekend of Thunder Bay activities were planned. Featured was a "cultural" evening at the Outpost and a family picnic at Centennial Park. Speaking of families, this class has been quite prolific and I see future enrolment being fairly positive if this class is any indication. Careers are varied and, in all cases, the class seemed committed to their chosen vocations. Special thanks go to Darlene MacGillivray and David Legg who helped organize the event. In attendance was former LUSU President Peter Harper, who now resides in Etobicoke, Ontario. Class reunions are a great idea and the Manager of Alumni Services, Rob Zuback (807-343-8916) is there to help. Get organized and have a great time like these Class of '85 Forestry grads.

Lakehead University Engineers Beat Cal Tech

A group of Lakehead University engineering students (Year I) recently competed in the International Hydro Power Conference in San Francisco and came away with the top prize. In summary, they beat that infamous engineering dynasty of Cal Tech. Special congratulations go to Lakehead University engineering students Brad Bida, Rob Maki, and Alan Ripley, as well as Faculty supervisor Dr. Martin Oosterveld.

Chemical Engineering Student Chapter Wins National Recognition

In a letter to their Faculty Advisor, Dr. I. Nirdosh, it was announced that Lakehead University's Student Chapter of the Canadian Society for Chemical Engineers has won national recognition for their activities and will be presented with the first prize merit award at the National Conference in Quebec City in October 1995, Congratulations (no bias from a Chemical Engineer)!

News from Elliot Lake

Got a very neat note from Lindsay Killen (For Tech '84, BSc'87, BEd'88). Lindsay is Head of the Geography Department, Elliot Lake Secondary School and has just won the Outstanding Earth Science Teacher's Award from the National Association of Geology Teaching. Congratulations, well done!

Fall 1995

Now that September is upon us, Lakehead University is welcoming another influx of new students. This is our 30th year as a University and this spring we awarded our first honorary degree to a Lakehead University graduate, Dr. Helen Donis-Keller. As well, this fall will see the opening of a refurbished and expanded Bora Laskin Building for the Faculty of Education. For an old building, the renovation has done wonders both inside and out.

Over at Avila Centre and our External Relations/Alumni operation the secondment of Joy Himmelman has been extended to the end of 1996 to finish the Share Our Northern Vision Campaign. At that time, Joy will return to her position as Director in the Student Services Department.

P.S. Remember the 1995 Alumni Annual Fund. Lakehead University and today's students need your help.

Student Chapter wins National Merit Award

"Women in Engineering: Surviving and Thriving," was the theme of Dr. Jane Phillips' keynote address at the third annual Chemical Engineering Conference held at Lakehead University last March.

The Student Chapter actively promoted the conference to faculty from other Engineering and Science departments and to local high school and college students.

In August it was announced that Lakehead University's Student Chapter of the Canadian Society for Chemical Engineers (CSCHE) had been awarded the National Merit Award for 1994-95 from the Canadian Society for Chemical Engineers.

Next year's conference is scheduled for Saturday, March 30, 1996.

Lakehead University Alumni Annual Fund Donor List 1994-95

Funds raised through the Alumni Annual Fund are having a significant impact on the quality of education at Lakehead.

Thanks to your generosity, new books have been purchased for the library, new equipment has been installed in the labs, and many more students have benefited from the increasing number of alumni scholarships and bursaries.

This year's Annual Fund target of $150,000 has been met and more than 103 new donors added to our list of supporters.

We continue to print the Annual Fund Donor List in the Alumni magazine to thank you for your gifts and to suggest to others, who are not currently making a contribution, to consider making a tax-deductible contribution.

Each one of us has benefited from our experiences at Lakehead -- and the Annual Fund is a perfect way to give something back.

On behalf of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association, I thank you for your leadership and your generosity.

Ron Tweedie

Five years ago when geologist Ron Tweedie (BSc'80) saw the need for one tool that would function as both a grub hoe and geology hammer, he decided to make his own. He took the leaf spring from an automobile, welded and shaped it to his specifications and created the "Geotul." When his friends saw how handy this new invention was, they wanted Geotuls too, and before long, Tweedie found himself at the head of a thriving small business.

Of course life is never that simple. After creating his first homemade hoelhammer, Tweedie spent two years developing the commercial model. He had to experiment with varying amounts of carbon and heat to get the right degree of hardness. The final product is a steel alloy combining molybdenum, chromium and carbon.

Today Geotuls are being sold all over the world -- Finland, Mongolia, Peru, Guatemala and Jamaica.

The future? Tweedie has no plans to expand his business. He enjoys the simplicity of a one-man operation.

Meet Cara Marie MacMillan

The Alumni Association's Award Recipient for 1995-96

If her high school record is anything to go by then Lakehead University should get ready for Cara MacMillan!

In the five years she spent at St. Ignatius High School in Thunder Bay, MacMillan managed to serve on the student's council, write poetry, play tenor saxophone in the school band, tutor grade 10 students in mathematics, supervise a parish youth group, and rack up a slew of academic awards.

MacMillan has enrolled in the Honours Bachelor of Arts program and hopes to do post-graduate work in English, Journalism, or Law.

The Alumni Association Award, valued at $5,000, is given out each year to one student entering a degree or diploma program at Lakehead University.

Campus Wedding

What could be more romantic than a June wedding amidst the cherry blossoms? Well that is exactly what Glenn Rothenburger (BA'95) and Corinne Douse thought when they chose to tie the knot on campus just a week after graduation. They held the marriage ceremony in the Faculty Lounge just a week after Convocation.

"With the sunlight coming in over the trees and the soft breezes drifting in over Lake Tamblyn it was like a dream," says Glenn.

Rothenburger came to Lakehead as a mature student in 1991 after working for several years in the forest products industry.

He majored in Political Studies and Philosophy while his partner completed several courses in the native access program.

The couple intends to further their studies in Prince George, B.C. -- Glenn is creating his own interdisciplinary Master's program in environmental ethics at the University of Northern British Columbia and Corinne hopes to teach in the nearby native communities.
