New Look In '84

by Pat O'Brien '70

"The old gray mare, she ain't what she used to be" and, as you can see, with this edition, Alumni News "ain't what she used to be" either.

We have a new look, and possibly a new name - Nor'Wester - which we borrowed from the old yearbooks. I say "possibly" because we want you to decide. If you like it - write in and say so; if you don't, tell us and make a suggestion. In fact, while you're thinking of it, turn to the back cover, fill out the questionnaire, and mail it in. Not only will you help determine the content of your paper but also you may win a prize - details on back.

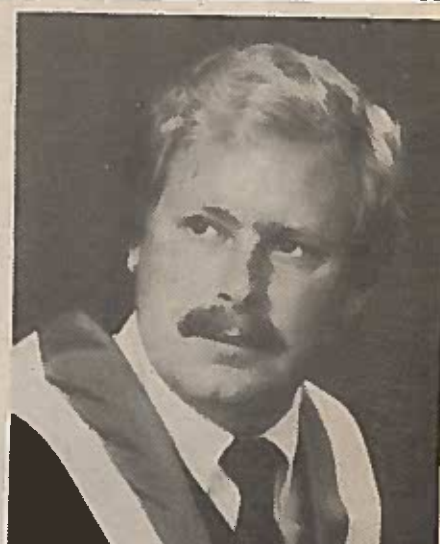

This edition also introduces new columns and columnists while retaining old favourites. Campus News profiles distinguished academic and university personalities beginning with Dr. Claude Garton, and "Mer-rill's Musings" by Dr. George Merrill, comments on various aspects of campus life. Alumni Profiles has 10,000 candidates yet to spot-light and Class News (or who's where, and what are they doing), will continue to expose the unwary. Coming Events will help plan your social calendar and Chapter News will allow you to maintain contacts and develop new ones.

Letters sometimes gives us swelled heads - because of your positive support. Use it to "make a point" or locate an old friend.

Since this paper's first edition in the Fall of '82, the Alumni News/Nor'Wester has developed from a 5-page supplement to a 12-page independent publication.

On behalf of the Communications Committee, thanks for your support and albeit a bit late - Happy 1984.

Directors Appointed to Alumni Board

Betty Coates B.Sc.N. '69 and Steve Colquhoun B.A. '82, accepted appointments to the Alumni Board of Directors recently following the resignations of Dorothy Wright '71 and John Lyon '71.

Betty, well known in Thunder Bay for her acting and directing talents, is involved in Theatre Ontario, the Lakehead Choral Group, Cambrian Players, and St. Paul's United Church.

Steve is the Operations Supervisor at Incan Superior where he coordinates rail traffic shipment from the U.S. When not on the job Steve prefers to be on the golf course.

Both are committed to enhancing the image of L.U. among high school students in the community. "Too many local high school students are enrolling in other universities because they feel LU is second-rate", says Steve, "and that must be changed."

"The success of the Alumni is a measure of the quality of education of the institution" says Betty, "and by that yard stick - LU is first rate. Alumni should encourage their children and friends to look first at LU."

Betty certainly practises what she preaches. Her eldest son David '82 B.Sc. (gold medal) is a graduate of Lakehead University and her daughter Marybeth will graduate this Spring.

by Maurice A. Ktytor '68, Manager, Canada Employment Centre on Campus/Director of Student Placement.

I would like to introduce you to the staff of the Canada Employment Centre on Campus.

Miss Angela Pepe is our Receptionist/Secretary and is usually the first person to greet you when you come into our office or hear when you phone.

Our two Employment Counsellors/Placement Officers are Ron Gehl '71, and John Miller '71. Each is responsible for all levels of students and graduates from the specific academic departments assigned to them. This is in addition to servicing Canadian employers who are interested in employing our students and graduates.

The most important requirement that students have today, as evidenced in a recent report released by the Ontario Ministry of Colleges and Universities, is to know where there is a job available. Things have not changed that much since you were a student here at Lakehead. We continue to have many bright young men and women with a wide range of talents and skills just like you and your classmates had. Unfortunately it is much more difficult today to identify where the job is.

With this in mind, if you know of and can provide us with any employment leads, we would be extremely grateful. It doesn't matter whether the job is for an hour, a day, a week, a month, for the summer, or most importantly a career opportunity. Please give us a call at (807) 345-2121, extension 254, or use the direct line (807) 344-0717. Encourage your employer to hire a Lakehead graduate or student. You know they do it better

Claude Garton: In Harmony with the Land

by Jenny Beck '69

Claude Eugene Garton is as much a part of Northwestern Ontario as anyone could be. His knowledge of the flora of this region and his contributions to the concerns of conservation have made his name known in universities and herbaria around the world.

Born near Aylmer, Ontario, 77 years ago into a farming family, he developed an early interest in the world around him. After attending teacher college in London, Ontario, he taught for two years in a small school near St. Thomas before coming to Port Arthur in 1928.

Until 1936, he taught at St. James School and then became principal of Current River School, a position he occupied until 1941. At that time, he became principal at Pine Street School for one year before enlisting in the auxiliary forces of the armed services. After his war duties were completed, he once again became principal at Current River School and remained there until his retirement in 1966 when the school was renamed in his honour.

Like many teachers of the time, Claude Garton's thirst for knowledge was not easily satisfied. He graduated from Queen's University in 1942 after covering the course of studies by winter extension courses and by attending summer courses on campus. While studying biology, he developed an interest in taxonomy and began collecting plant specimens in the summer of 1933.

During his career as an educator, Claude Garton continued to pursue his consuming passion - the study of the flora of Northwestern Ontario. That passion is still the driving force in his life and for this, we can be grateful. His lifelong interest in botany has enriched our lives.

After his retirement from teaching, he donated his herbarium, approximately 18,000 sheets of plants representing the efforts of all his summers in the field, to Lakehead University. He continued his studies of the flora of this region from the University.

Samples from the Claude Garton Herbarium have been exchanged for specimens from other universities, museums and government agencies around the world. Plants which he has gathered now comprise part of the collection of the Kuopio Museum in Finland, the National Museum in Ottawa, the University of California and Kew Gardens.

His work has filled many gaps in the knowledge of this region's flora. Summer finds him tramping through the bushlands, collecting, studying and classifying new specimens.

Although he hasn't discovered new species, he has found several plants which were not known to grow in Ontario before. "I suppose there are over 30 plants that I found for the first time in Ontario", he said.

In all his years of summer work, he has concentrated mainly on the District of Thunder Bay and Manitoba. In the late 1940s and early '50s, he was naturalist at Sibley Provincial Park. From 1975 to 1977, he conducted a biological survey of Pukaskw National Park with the emphasis on the Arctic Alpine flora. He also spent one summer as naturalist at Quetico Park. In the summer of 1981, he completed a plant inventory of the Great Lakes Forestry Products Limited on the Mattawin River Limited.

The past two summers have found him at work exploring the eastern and northern reaches of Lake Nipigon by invitation of the Ministry of Natural Resources. His main focus of study was the effects of the area's fishing industry on the aquatic flora.

He also discovered two unusual examples of flora: one of the rarer "Grape Ferns", and the white form of the "Stemless Lady's Slipper".

Presently, some of his specimens are being used by the National Museum in a Canada-wide project to delineate the rare and endangered species growing in this area.

There are three local areas of concern that take up a great deal of his time. At Stanley, on the banks of the Kaministiquia River, he is hoping to preserve a bur oak habitat. "The plants will grow well almost anywhere. In this climate, they can't compete with Boreal Forest species", he said. However, their growth is possible near Stanley. The soil conditions at this particular site, although too dry for normal boreal trees, favour the growth of the bur oak as well as poison ivy which helps to protect the stand from the curiosity of the average passerby.

He is also concerned about the preservation of the marshes along our lakefront and the preservation of a stand of ancient white pine at Greenwood Lake on the Mattawin Limits of the Great Lakes. A bush road passes through the centre of the stand. A specimen in his lab from the site - possibly the oldest virgin stand in Ontario - was a seedling in 1747. Although that seems old, it is young compared to the ages of some of the trees still there. Claude Garton estimates that some of the trees at the site are up to 350 years old.

As well as working toward preserving and understanding the flora of this region, Claude Garton has furthered this aim through his participation in numerous organizations.

He is a charter member and former past-president of the Thunder Bay Field Naturalists Club. That organization celebrated its 50th anniversary this past May.

He is also a former director of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists and is a member of the Canadian Botanical Association, the Torrey Botanical Club, the New England Botanical Club, the Ottawa Field Naturalists Club, and others. He is a former Director of the Port Arthur Horticultural Society and holder of a Service Award from the Provincial Society. He is a former member of the Thunder Bay Fish and Game Association and of the Northwestern Ontario Conservation Association.

His contributions in the field have earned him much recognition and respect, both in the academic community and in the hearts of the average person. At the time of Queen Elizabeth's coronation, he was awarded a Coronation Medal. In 1966, Lakehead University recognized him as honorary Professor of Biology. In 1978, he was granted the Federation of Ontario Naturalist Conservation Trophy. In 1979, the City of Thunder Bay granted him a Citizens of Exceptional Achievement Award and in the same year, the University conferred on him the title of Honorary Doctor of Science.

Long retirement does not rest easily on the shoulders of people such as Claude Garton. There is far too much work to be done for that!

News From Malawi

Thank you for the June Alumni News with considerable information re: the Alumni Association. Congratulations.

It may be of interest that three Lakehead University graduates are in Malawi, being sponsored by the World University Service of Canada:

Terry Dashavich HBA '72
Tom Alexander BA BEd '83
Margaret Page BScN '87

Tom and Terry are volunteers and assigned to Secondary Schools. I am on the Associate program in the University of Malawi. All are located in or near Lilongwe, the capital city.

It is rather a coincidence that three Lakehead University graduates find themselves in Central East Africa.

(Margaret has returned to Thunder Bay and is teaching at Lakehead University.)

Hello From Yellowknife

Thank you for the issues of Alumni News, they are enjoyable. I'd like to pass on a Hello to the members of the Forestry Tech Class of '81, - 'Tech'ers are we -, and to the ex-B-Lousers of 80 and 81. Howdy folks, I is still alive and well. I'm now working for the Department of Indian Affairs and Northern Development in Yellowknife, NWT, as the Assistant District Protection Officer for the Yellowknife District. If you still had any doubts as to whether I was crazy this should get rid of them.

I sure would like to hear from some of you whom I haven't heard from since that last exam (I can't recall what it was). Well take it easy all and rest assured I miss those partying days and all of you.

Early in 1981, the collection in the Claude Garton Herbarium topped the 60,000 mark, and work still goes on. At present, there are 72,510 sheets of dried plants. The collection has about 6,500 species of vascular plants 650 species of mosses, close to 500 species of lichens, and 150 species of liverworts. He is particularly interested in the Arctic Alpine flora of the Thunder Bay area. These plants are well adapted to the harsh, short growing season of the Lake Superior region.

The collection and classification of plants is an important foundation of botany and biology and the basis of much work in medical and environmental research. The herbarium begun through his interest 51 years ago, provides us with a better understanding of the great complexity of the boreal forests. Each summer, when it is time to return to the field, forestry students accompany him. His work in the herbarium has fostered good relationships with plant institutions worldwide and his care and interest in others helps students learn more about their surroundings.

Claude Garton, by his example, stresses that humans must live in harmony with the land. Our days of squandering our resources are numbered. His life has been one of stewardship and caring, enriching our understanding as well as enriching ourselves.

Has Anybody Seen

I've been living in Fernie, B.C. for four years now and have been teaching at East Kootenay Community College. I have implemented an Adult Basic Education full-time program here which helps adults upgrade to a Grade 10 or 12 standing. I certainly credit Lakehead University for my academic ability and love of teaching.

If anyone knows the whereabouts of Danny Keaton, Michael Traversy or Albert Haapaniemi please write and let me know.

Dumela from Lesotho

Dumela is a greeting spoken by the people of Lesotho, (pronounced Lay-soo-too) a small kingdom in Southern Africa. It is a greeting that two Lakehead graduates, Shon McLaren and Aubrey Spring, have used daily for the past year.

Shon McLaren (class of 79) was looking for a challenging job back in 1981 and has found that teaching highschool geography in a third world country has given her this and more! In the village where Shon's school is located, electricity and central heating are unheard of. However, on the school campus there is the luxury of running water.

"One of my Canadian friends teaching in Botswana commented that he also had running water and pointed to the river running behind his house" says Shon. Lately there has been a drought in Southern Africa and water has been rationed in many villages.

"There was a time a few months ago where there was no water in my village for two days. Having no water for cooking and washing is one thing but no water for drinking was a shock to this Canadian who has always taken it for granted."

At St. Thomas Highschool, the school day starts at 6:30 a.m. with morning study. Fortunately teachers do not have to report until 7:45 a.m. unless they happen to be on study duty. The number of students per class ranges from 30 to 80 so there is never a dull moment!

English is the language used for teaching and is the second official language of the country. It is best to have a sense of humour and patience. The younger students do not know English very well. Progress in the first year is slow but they are very enthusiastic and a joy to teach.

Lesotho is a great country for walking and many expatriates (people working out of their home country) explore Lesotho in this way.

The people of Lesotho are said to be the friendliest in Africa. They are more than willing to share what food they have and give you directions while hiking in the mountains. It is also not uncommon to be invited into a home for a cup of the local brew. One of the few things Shon misses while hiking around Lesotho is trees, but this is where Aubrey comes in.

Aubrey is working for the Lesotho Woodlot Project. Set up 10 years ago, the project's primary objective is to establish fuelwood plantations on a village level throughout the country. His responsibilities have ranged from the production of maps to selecting suitable species for new woodlots.

Shon helping students with geography notes

"Being used to the bush of Thunder Bay I found the country quite barren when first confronted with the unbroken vistas. But disregarding the aesthetic side of it Lesotho really needs trees. During the winter months (May - Sept.) there is a great demand for fuel to heat the small circular thatched stone huts which are home to the majority of the Basotho. Being the only country in the world that can boast of having all of its area (about the size of Vancouver Island) above 1500 metres, with 2/3 of the above 2000 metres, the winter nights get pretty chilly.

Trees also play an important role in soil and water conservation. Soil is Lesotho's second biggest export, next only to the labour force. Both cross into the Republic of South Africa in great quantities. The soil gets washed away while the men go to work in the mines."

Because of the continental climate and an average annual rainfall of only 500 mm Lesotho is not blessed with the lush growth that occurs in neighbouring Swaziland and parts of South Africa. Exotics, mainly Eucalyptus, Rubida, and Pinus radiata are grown in the lowlands (below 2000 metres) on a 15-20 year rotation. Above 2000 metres, Arizona Cypress has proven to be the most suitable species.

Once established the woodlots must be fenced to protect the seedlings from the ubiquitous livestock - cattle, sheep and goats. Animals are still a symbol of wealth, so the people turn a deaf ear when anyone tries to tell them about range management.

Another obstacle to the successful creation of woodlots is the land tenure system. Since all land is owned by the people (through the king), the decision to offer an area for woodlot establishment must be a collective one. As there is already great pressure on the land, people are very reluctant to give up potential crop or grazing land. Many Basotho believe that trees are in fact bad. They say forests provide sanctuary for terrorists, snakes and evil spirits.

Aubrey's work takes him to all corners of the country where he has the opportunity to see the real Lesotho. But by living in the capital city of Maseru, where one can enjoy first-run movies, good restaurants, squash, tennis, and golf, he has the best of both worlds.

People may write to Shon McLaren and Aubrey Spring at:

Merrill's Musings

and we'll go from there.

Meanwhile, until I have your questions, I will make a few comments about the present campus scene, now in the middle of Winter Carnival Week... Alumni and friends who attended the university in its first few years of granting degrees will fondly remember the fine times enjoyed by all in building massive hulks of snow sculpture which were subsequently judged. Carnival 1984 is considerably different. The university snow loader pushed piles of snow together in pre-assigned areas where each group was to build its own sculpture. As I write this column, three days are remaining on the carnival schedule, and one group has just started to build its sculpture. I'm not certain which group was working, but none of the other sculptures had been started... Student spirit is certainly different from "the good old days". It might be that the new university pub, called "The Study" and located where the old Great Hall was, is bringing the students together indoors away from the deep freeze outdoors. However, I can remember earlier winter carnivals when we had cold snaps and still participated outdoors, too...

We at the university are happy to welcome Margaret Page '87 back to our fold after a period in Malawi where she was in charge of setting up a nursing program in the capital city, Lilongwe. Margaret has many extremely interesting comments about the country and its people... While she was there she also saw a couple of Lakehead University graduates who are presently working in Malawi. Indeed, it is a small world!... You may remember that Margaret was a member of Lake-head's first degree class in Nursing, she later served as president of the Alumni, and also as director of our School of Nursing. Welcome back Margaret!

Can you guess the identity of the faculty member with the longest period of service to the university and presently active? Of course, it is Dr. Thomas B. Miller of the History Department. Tom remains active in many aspects of university and civic life. During the second week of February he is portraying Duncan in the Cambrian Players' production of Macbeth. Many other faculty, staff, and students are involved in this play which shapes up as a winner.

Well, this introduces this column to you, and I do hope that you will be inspired enough to drop a line inquiring about some of our old friends or even with information about them which we may not know. Thank you and best wishes!

Varsity Sports - A Success Story

by Larry Hebert '89

K Coffin, LU's Athletic Director made the following comments on Lakehead University's Varsity Athletic Program for the Winter of 1983-84.

"All teams are on the right path as far as I am concerned. You cannot build a team overnight and my goal is to build continuity into the program." This is the first time in a number of years that LU has had varsity coaches returning in all sports.

"Continuity in coaching and in the program are important for recruiting. When you have coaching changes, you take two steps backwards because it takes away from the program, recruiting, and the familiarization of any coach, no matter how competent, with the team and the university."

Once continuity of coaching is in place, the next major task is recruitment. Again continuity is a key word in recruitment. "The first job of any student is to graduate," said Coffin. "An athlete who has academic progress in mind is the type of individual that we are seeking for our varsity teams."

One of the few problems that arise from LU's unique situation is the number of varsity coaches from outside the university community. Unfortunately academic teaching qualifications and coaching abilities do not come together easily at the university level where sports are not quite the same business proposition in Canada as in the U.S. Consequently, LU has sacrificed slightly in the area of full-time, university-employed coaches but Coffin believes that the local coaches we do have "more than make up for any full time teaching-status problems by their enthusiasm and initiative. These coaches have enough flexibility in their own personal vocations to allow them the kind of time to dedicate themselves to a university level varsity program. It's more than just a couple of hours a night that these guys put in. It's almost a full time job."

As far as individual teams go, Coffin echoed the feelings of most of the coaches. In Men's basketball, he felt LU had a mature team which will be even stronger next year. "Brandon will be the main G.P.A.C. competition." If LU can reach the top four in ranking they will have a much easier time in the regionals.

"Women's basketball is one or two players short of having a super strong team. They are young, intense and competitive." Coach Stu

Hockey Nor'Westers

Dave Bragnalo's goal for his LU hockey team this year is quite simple. "I want to make the playoffs. The top three teams get in and it will be between us and Regina for the last playoff spot." LU plays in Regina on the last weekend of the season and Bragnalo can see this series as being the key series as to who makes the play-offs.

Dave has the young team which augers well for the future. Dave feels the "team's inconsistency is a result of the team's lack of intercollegiate experience". He picked up Dave Westlund from Kenora and Terry Goodman from Thunder Bay. At press time he was hoping he wouldn't lose anyone because of low marks from the Christmas exams.

Dave sees no breaks in the last part of the schedule with "all home games being must wins".

"Winnipeg and Regina will be here after Christmas and we just have to win those games," stated Bragnalo.

Dave has tried to give his young players as much ice time as possible so that they can gain that much needed varsity experience. "It's a building year so that the future looks good but we could still easily make the play-offs."

Julius has already lined up some possible recruits for next season which should see a very tough team.

In wrestling, if the team stays injury-free LU will be in the top two standing in Canada.

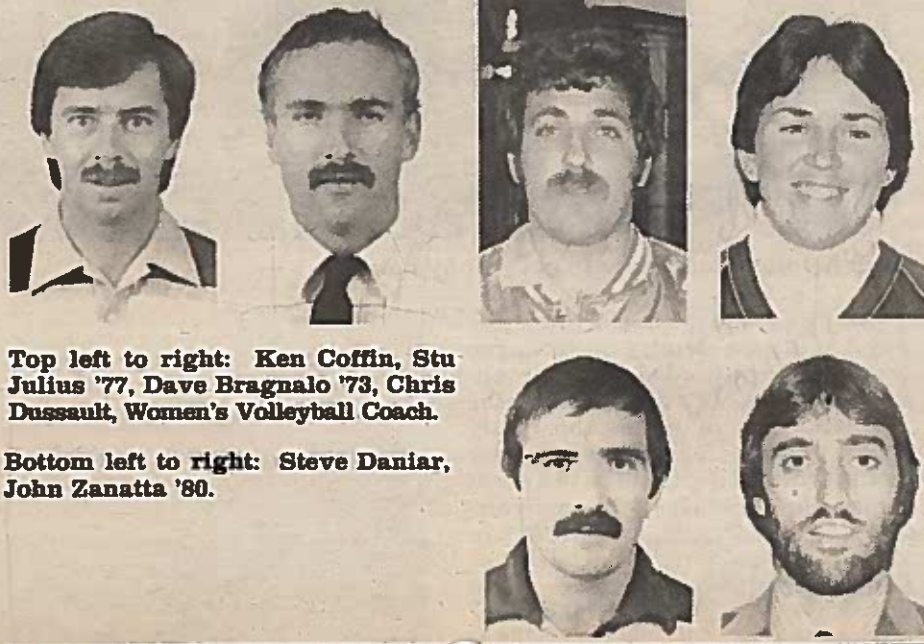

"Women's volleyball has the disadvantage of playing in the G.P.A.C. which has three of the top teams in Canada," Coffin stated.

The University of Winnipeg is the top-ranked team in Canada and the University of Manitoba is not far behind. The University of Regina is also strong. Recently LU swung through southern Ontario and held their own. The biggest problem seems to be playing in the high class G.P.A.C. league.

LU Hockey has had the most fluctuating life of all of the teams this year. Coffin commented on how competitive G.P.A.C. is. Each game seems like a playoff game. Part of the problem could probably be attributed to the young team that Coach Bragnalo has. Because the league is so tight, any string of victories will give one team a real shot at the league title.

"We have some new recruits coming in January and that should help settle the team down."

When you look over the above program, I think LU supporters, both graduates and undergraduates can be proud of the LU varsity program and the job its coaches are accomplishing.

Women's Nor'Wester Volleyball

Assistant Coach Keith Roy said the only problem with the LU Volleyball team is the tough G.P.A.C. conference. "With Winnipeg, Manitoba and Regina, being the competition in G.P.A.C., it makes our job pretty difficult. Winnipeg and Manitoba are probably the two best teams in the country. They have beaten many top U.S. teams."

The LU team has been holding its own with the Ontario competition. In a fall tournament in Windsor they split with highly ranked McMaster, beat Guelph and lost two of three to Brock. They have beaten Lansing and Michigan. Roy says that "LU probably ranks in the top quarter of all the Ontario teams but unfortunately, league play sends them to the west."

Last year LU had five returning players and six new ones. As it stands now, LU will lose only one player next year. The future looks bright. Yet even when Winnipeg lost 8 out of 10 players last year, they still remained number one. Competing in

Varsity Wrestling

Steve Daniar is optimistic about his Wrestling team's chances this year. Steve feels that they could be rated in the top four teams in the country.

His top grapplers are:

Gord Sturrock	158 pounds
Terry Kelly	142 pounds
Sean O'Heney	167 pounds
Rob Dawson	119 pounds

With these lofty ambitions for this year, Steve sees real promise in the future. Next year he loses only two of his 12 top performers.

Daniar says his only problem is that "we lack depth. If any of the front liners get hurt, we could be in trouble."

Daniar expects to win G.P.A.C. since Lakehead is the real power there. Hopefully six wrestlers from Lakehead will make up the G.P.A.C. team which will compete in the CIAU finals February 24 and 25 in Saskatoon.

G.P.A.C. will not get any easier but LU is getting better.

Two local products who are new to the team and playing well are Allison Bode from Hillcrest via the Regional team and Marlene Comeau from Westgate via Confederation College.

Next year LU hopes to host its own tournament at Thanksgiving. Teams from Ontario, Manitoba and the United States are hoped to enter the tournament.

Nor'Wester Men's Basketball

At presstime, the Men's basketball team was ranked 8th in Canada. Coach John Zanatta is very optimistic about the end of this season.

"If we don't win G.P.A.C. this year, we'll have a great opportunity next year."

Zanatta rates his charges as a mature team with an average age of 22-23. He feels that with this veteran club he has a good shot at a G.P.A.C. title. With losing only three players next year, his chances are tremendous. "Losing only three doesn't sound bad but when they are the calibre of Harry Van Laar, Karl Subban and Tony Scott, you are losing a lot of talent."

Zanatta feels that a successful year will help his recruiting drive as well as giving experience to some of his younger players. LU has been playing well enough to allow 10 to 12 players to get into the home games with eight players seeing regular action in the tougher road games.

Zanatta is fortunate since he can start five former or current G.P.A.C. all stars. These include his younger brother, David Zanatta, Harry Van Laar who is averaging 12 re-bounds per game, Ken Ross, Karl Subban and Cheddie Warner.

Zanatta feels fortunate that the team has been playing well enough to allow the younger players to play. Pat Charlebois, a local product out of F.W. C.I. has played in seven out of thirteen games so far.

Women's Nor'Wester Basketball

Coach Stu Julius is very pleased with his team's progress this year. By Christmas they had played the toughest part of their schedule and are standing at 3 and 3. Only two home games had been played and LU swept Brandon in both.

Julius stated, "G.P.A.C. is a very competitive conference but we have a realistic chance of making the playoffs. Winnipeg will probably rate #1 and we'll be in there with Brandon fighting it out."

Coach Julius sees a bright future since most of the team is young. The two Brown girls are sophomores and both are playing well. Lynn has already been G.P.A.C. player of the week. Rookie Leslie Edwards is a starter along with Astrid Kneip, the veteran on the team. Julius also sees some good players coming out of the local high schools in the future.

Julius has been leading his team into very tough tournament competition so that his young players can get valuable and needed experience. In one tournament Lakehead could have played three of the top 10 ranked teams in Canada. In an earlier tournament, Lakehead lost by only eight points to Toronto, the fifth ranked team.

LU is young, but playing well. Julius looks like he has the nucleus of an excellent team for the future.

A Friendly Hi From Germany

A friendly "Hi" from me, maybe better known as "Mr. Legs '79". I'm really glad to receive your paper here in Germany, 'cause due to distance and time, this is about the only way to find out what people are doing.

After three years of great times, both academically and socially, I graduated in 1979 with a BSc. Presently, I'm in my final year of medical school at the RWTH in Aachen. During that period I had so many good experiences with the people and the country that I want to return these to my old buddies or their friends. Keep up the good work. It is great to keep in touch with Lakehead University and former classmates.

Thank you for keeping me abreast with Alumni News. So far I haven't found any of it particularly useful...perhaps as time goes by...I will. However, you're doing quite a job.

I look forward to each issue! Keep up your quality work. Thank you very much.

I am interested in being a part of the alumni. I would also like to help start the Alumni Chapter in Vancouver. My LU education is sure helping. Thank you.

Glenn W. Ford '79

Since graduation I've resided in Nanaimo on Vancouver Island working for MacMillan Bloedel. Now I'm a fully-fledged wildlife technician working for the Fish and Wildlife Branch. Yes, I have been known to search the hillsides for wildlife and spend time sitting on deer under the cover of darkness. What a life.

Better Than Ever!

Thirty-two rinks participated in the Alumni Annual Bonspiel which was held at the Thunder Bay Country Club on January 15. As the pictures attest, competition was secondary to the good fellowship which was enjoyed by all who participated. The date has been set for the third annual bonspiel, so please circle January 19, 1985 on your calendar and join in the fun.

Alumni Basketball Game Report

by Brad Thompson '80

The Alumni Association and the Athletic Department of Lakehead University staged the annual Alumni Basketball Game on Saturday, October 22 at the Field House, pitting LU varsity teams against a hand-picked crew of Alumni stalwarts.

Ex-Varsity coach Howard Lockhart tossed out the first ball to start the men's game, and a lot of fans were surprised at the ability displayed by the Alumni squad.

The score? Well, we lost. It was all in fun and the crowd of approximately 300 people who showed up at the after-game social in the Prince Arthur had a good time. Just wait until next year - some of their starters from this year will be Alumni!

Sea or Ski

We are polling alumni to determine whether there would be sufficient interest in a group travel package for alumni and friends. The Alumni Association has been in touch with a travel agent regarding winter vacation travel packages. We ask you to indicate which package would have the greatest appeal -- sun destination or ski tour. Would you please indicate your preference by calling the Alumni Office at 345-4027.

Theatre Night

The Alumni Association is interested in organizing a Theatre Night in the near future. In order to ascertain the feasibility of this undertaking, we ask you to indicate your interest by phoning the Alumni Office at 345-4027.

Proposed agenda for the evening would be:

1. Gather at Alumni House
2. Proceed as a group to theatre performance
3. Return to Alumni House or other campus facility for light refreshments.

Alumni Give

by Dusty Miller, Chairman of the Lakehead University Alumni Board and Co-Chairman of the 1983 Alumni Annual Fund.

The first Alumni Annual Fund Appeal, which met with considerable success, officially ended on January 25.

The original goal was $15,000, not a large sum when one considers that there are 12,000 graduates of Lakehead University, but a sum that was thought to be a realistic target.

We can proudly say that $28,098 has been contributed since the campaign began on September 16, 1983. Over 400 alumni from Thunder Bay to Singapore responded to the appeal with an average gift of $67.71.

On behalf of my co-chairman, John Valley and the Alumni Board, I thank all who contributed to this appeal. Your loyalty and friendship to Lakehead University is particularly important in these tough financial times when all universities have to cope with the hardships brought about by a steady deterioration in government funding over the past few years.

Our thanks also go to everyone who formed the campaign team. Your much-appreciated volunteer efforts and support were fundamental to the success of this first appeal.

We are grateful too, to John Sharpe, Director of Alumni Services, whose expertise and enthusiastic support ensured that the campaign ran smoothly and well, and to our hardworking and helpful office staff, Betty Hygaard and Sue-Ellen Byberg.

Our objectives in making this appeal which will be conducted annually are: to help outstanding students attend Lakehead University; to support deserving programs within the various faculties of the University; to transfer gifts which individual alumni members wish to designate to specific areas of interest in the University; and finally, to make necessary improvements to Alumni House to enable it to become a vital centre of all alumni activities.

The Board of the Alumni Association is now working on the pleasant task of fulfilling the fund objectives. An award of $5000 (four years at $1250 per year) has been established and application forms are already in production. They will be distributed to all high schools in Northwestern Ontario and will be available at Alumni House on request.

A new student will be accepted for this award each year. It will be offered to students who show good academic ability and citizenship qualities.

I am convinced that the Alumni Annual Fund is a worthwhile undertaking. I hope that more graduates of Lakehead University will come to agree and will contribute generously to future appeals.

Many alumni may not be aware that there are more than 400 companies in Canada which are prepared to support universities through "matching gift" programs. As part of their corporate donations, the companies match whatever financial contributions an employee makes to his or her university. If you want to find out more about ways of getting your gifts "matched" by your employer, please consult your corporate affairs or personnel department, call Alumni Services at Lakehead University, (807) 345-4027.

Profiles

Harry Curtis - A Big Wheel In Town

by Larry Hebert '69

Harry Curtis is a 1974 Bachelor of Physical Education graduate and a 1976 Bachelor of Education graduate of Lakehead University. Harry currently teaches at Hammarskjöld High School for the Lakehead Board of Education.

Between degrees, Harry was the Assistant Program Director for the Thunder Bay YM-YWCA in 1974-75. Since 1981, Harry has served on a voluntary basis as the Vice President of the Board of Directors for the Ontario Cycling Association.

After his family and career, Harry has dedicated a major portion of his life to the sport of cycling. His most recent noteworthy accomplishment is being the Assistant Coach of Canada's National Cycling Team. In 1983, Harry had a busy summer. Besides training, Harry attended two world class events: the World University Games held in Edmonton from July 1 - 11, and the World Cycling Championships in Zurich, Switzerland held in late August.

If Harry continues as Assistant Coach, it is possible he will be in Los Angeles for the 1984 Olympics. At presstime, this was not determined.

Reflecting back on his days at Lakehead University, Harry has many fond memories of the BPHE

Program and the faculty. He stated that "We had so many opportunities that I took full advantage of the program". His relationship with people such as Gord Garvie, Dr. Jim Widop, Norm Lavoie, Ron Lappage, and others made his educational experience fun as well as valuable. He also stated that he felt fortunate to have known "The Foresters". He felt that they added a great deal to Lakehead University especially through their competition with the BPHE faculty. He felt that "The Foresters" were the biggest supporters of our athletic programs.

Linda Rintamaki Realizes Wish

by Jeannie Malinowski '75

"I remember my first day in the (science) lab, I broke a beaker and burnt myself. I thought either I'd never survive, or, things could only get better." Well, get better they did. Dr. Linda Rintamaki, born and raised in Thunder Bay, graduated from L.U. in 1970 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Biology. In 1974 she graduated from the medical school of the University of Manitoba and then studied Family Practice at McMaster University in Hamilton. In 1976 she returned to Thunder Bay to set up her family practice.

In addition to memories of broken

Harry's greatest hope for Lakehead University is that its programs remain vibrant enough to attract and produce good people. This situation would go a long way in perpetuating Lakehead University. "I hope people continue to speak well of Lakehead University and to be proud of their Alma Mater since the school is a reflection of the people who went through it and the contributions they put into it. The school is much more than what each of us as individuals got out of it."

Harry Curtis is obviously one who put a lot into the school and also got a lot out of his experience. Perhaps in the summer of '84 Harry will not only be a "Big Wheel" in Thunder Bay but may be a "Big Wheel" on the International Broadcast of the Summer Olympics.

beakers, Linda remembers the cold -30°F walks from the parking lot for night classes - and worrying whether her old car was going to start afterwards.

Linda, with her husband, Wayne Edmunds, and son, Christopher, enjoys skiing, camping & sailing when time allows. In addition to her full-time family practice, Linda works with the palliative care unit and part-time in the health office at St. Joseph's General Hospital. She is also an active alumna and has successfully headed-up a team on the Alumni Annual Fund Drive.

One of Linda's wishes for L.U. is that more graduates return to their home town and use their skills to enhance their community and its quality of life.

The residents of Thunder Bay, under Linda's care, are glad she made her wish come true.

Double Your Gift

That's right, you can literally double the dollar value of your gift to Lakehead University if you work for one of the firms listed below or its divisions, subsidiaries or affiliated companies. You need only ask your administrative office for the company's application form. Fill in the pertinent information and forward the form to Lakehead University with your gift. We do the rest. It's as easy as it sounds. If your company has a Matching Gift Program but is not listed here, check with your administration to see if Lakehead University is eligible. A complete listing of U.S.A. companies which match gifts is available on request to the Alumni Office. (Not all of them extend their programs to Canadian universities, but it's worth checking.) This program is one of the many ways business is supporting higher education.
