SHAKESPEARE SEMINAR AND THEATRE SPECIALISTS

W. Pendergrast

C. Pendergrast

W. Shakespeare

G. Merrill

●Are you hung-up on Hamlet, mad about Macbeth or keen on King Lear? Well, you'll find all these characters alive and well at Lakehead University's Shakespeare Seminar and Theatre Workshop this summer.

This will be the sixth summer for this special course which is co-ordinated by Dr. George Merrill, the University's Shakespeare specialist. It is designed to combine an academic study of Shakespeare, his time, his plays and his theatre with practical experience in acting, speech, technical theatre and a period study of Elizabethan life styles. This year there will be an additional laboratory course which will involve the rehearsal and preparation of a presentation of Shakespeare scenes. Plans for an Elizabethan "Midsummer Festival" are in progress.

In addition, the Summer School will show a limited series of Shakespeare films from many lands. It is expected that the regular theatre trip and tour of the Guthrie Theatre in Minneapolis will take place in July to see this year's production of "The Tempest."

Dr. Merrill expects an enrolment of 40 students in the course which he will direct in co-operation with Mr. and Mrs. William Pendergrast of the faculty of the National Theatre School of Canada. They will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Bartley Bard who are graduates of the National Theatre School.

FACULTY OF ARTS TO PRESENT NEW COUNSELLING PROGRAM

●"This year's counselling session by Lakehead University's Faculty of Arts presents a program of unusual interest to all incoming students," said Tim Ryan, Dean of the faculty.

"During the past year, data has been collected concerning the academic preferences of the students which will better able them to choose their courses with a greater than average possibility of success," the Dean explained.

This information will be invaluable to incoming students as the norms are the most up-to-date and pertain exclusively to courses and programs at Lakehead University.

By comparing his interests with those of graduating students, a new student can discover which subjects attract students with the same interests as his own. With this information, the student is better able to choose his courses and major area of study.

The norms have been developed by Mr. Tosh Hayashi, M.A. (Lakehead); working under the direction of Dr. W. T. Melnyk, Chairman of the University's Department of Psychology.

The Kudder Preference Record, is used by Mr. Hayashi to measure ten broad areas of the students' academic interests and it takes approximately thirty minutes to complete. (The Record will be available to incoming students at the times indicated below). Because of the potential usefulness of this type of information, each student will be offering invaluable service to others coming into the university in later years.

Because of the time required to score and interpret the form, each student is encouraged to come to the University at least two days prior to his appointment with his advisor so as to undertake the record. At the time of counselling, an interpretation should then be available.

Each student is free to come at any time within the times indicated below. The counselling sessions will all be held in the Upper Theatre (Rm. 135) in the Agora.

The Timetable for the Administration of the Kudder Preference Record is as Follows:
