Da Vinci
Drawings in Aesthetics Gallery
March 9 - 19

□ A collection of more than 70 Leonardo Da Vinci prints will be on exhibit in the Aesthetics Society Art Gallery at Lakehead University from March 9 until March 19.

The exhibition will be open to the public free of charge from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. daily. It is sponsored by the Faculty of Arts, the AMS and the Aesthetics Society at the university.

Leonardo da Vinci (1452-1519) was one of the greatest and most versatile artists of the Renaissance. He was a universal genius, possessing an unsatiable curiosity in the activities of mankind. However formal his drawings, there are always elements of beauty, yet Leonardo the Botanist, the Geologist, the Architect, the Inventor, the Anatomist and the Military Engineer can be seen.

The notebooks and papers reproduced in the exhibit were carefully kept by Leonardo himself, and have been preserved almost intact; most are now in the Royal Library, Windsor Castle, and in the Biblioteca Ambrosiana, Milan.
