Convocation First

Two of the most impressive ceremonies ever witnessed on the campus of Lakehead University took place on Saturday afternoon, November 18. At the first fall Convocation, some 220 graduands were awarded degrees and diplomas. The ceremony, held in the intimate academic atmosphere of the Agora, seemed to have just the right combination of pomp and informality to make it a memorable, human event.

Even though his new mortarboard refused to stay put, Dr. Andrew D. Booth certainly filled the blue-and-white robes of the presidency in his inimitable style. In a brief inaugural address, he rapped the Ontario government and the mass media for contributing to public disenchantment with universities. He spoke optimistically, however, of the future of Lakehead University, considering the size of the region it must serve, and given its splendid facilities and excellent environment.

In keeping with the fighting tone of his remarks Dr. Booth concluded by paraphrasing Shakespeare's Henry V before Agincourt:

That he which hath no stomach to this fight,
Let him depart; his passport shall be made,
And crowns for convoy put into his purse;
We would not fight in that man's company,
That fears his fellowship to fight with us.

The Convocation address, delivered by Dr. John W. T. Spinks, President of the University of Saskatchewan, emphasized the importance of research for the development of a university as a whole, as well as for the development of a deep educational experience for all students at the university. Speaking directly to the graduating students, Dr. Spinks reminded them that their experience with change at Lakehead University and their understanding of change would likely serve them well in a world where change seems to be the most constant element.

Directly upon completion of the conferring of degrees and diplomas, Convocation proceeded to the Tim Ryan Building, where the new academic structure was dedicated to the memory of the late Dean of Arts of Lakehead University. Dr. Hugh H. Saunderson, President Emeritus of the University of Manitoba, and a former colleague, spoke of Tim Ryan's extraordinary commitment to his career as an educator; but especially Dr. Saunderson emphasized Tim Ryan's personal qualities and his ability to turn the roughest times into happy ones.

Mrs. Iris Torfason, speaking in behalf of family and friends of Tim Ryan, thanked the Board of Governors and the University at large for honouring the late Dean of Arts in this fashion. She felt it particularly fitting that a building to be filled with groups studying in the humanities should bear the name of a man so full of faith in the goodness of man. Denis Ryan, brother of the late Dean, came all the way from Ireland to attend the ceremony.

Dr. Booth attended to the introduction of Dr. Saunderson, Reverend John Kerr, Dean of Students, delivered the Invocation and the Benediction. And John Wright piped the procession and recession.

Residence Discussions

The Residence Thursday Evening Discussions will be continued next Thursday, November 30, at 9:00 p.m. in Social Centre 11 with a visit by Mr. J. Allan Hammond of Calgary.

Mr. Hammond, Executive Vice-President of the Glenbow-Alberta Institute, will lead a discussion on the Institute.

In 1954, Mr. Eric L. Harvie, a Calgary lawyer, and the Alberta government established the Glenbow Foundation to finance the housing of Mr. Harvie's collection of items connected with the history and culture of Western Canada. The collection has steadily grown since that time and it includes many interesting items concerning the early history of this area.

Thursday evening, Mr. Hammond will answer questions about the holdings of the Institute and their availability for display and research purposes. He will also hold discussions with interested individuals on Friday, December 1.

In Preparation

The first degree graduates of the School of Forestry, numbering twenty-nine in all, will burst upon the employment scene in May, 1973. But chances are that many of them will already have found suitable employment.

Imitating an extremely successful experiment initiated by Honours Bachelor of Commerce grads last year, this year's Forestry degree grads have compiled a brochure which consists of their pictures and curriculum vitae. This brochure will be sent to all prospective employers, who will then be invited to the campus to conduct interviews later in the school year.

Urban Geography Studied

Geography staff members I. G. Davies and B. C. Heggie and a party of Lakehead University students spent the weekend of November 3-5 studying selected aspects of the urban geography of Minneapolis. They were assisted by Keith Weit-ecki, a geography graduate student at the University of Minnesota.

New Senators

Board Notes

The Board of Governors, at its meeting of Friday, November 17, welcomed Dr. George Fleming as the newly-elected Senate representative on the Board. Dr. Fleming was also unanimously appointed as the faculty representative on the Executive Committee of the Board.

Mr. J. Murray Fleming and Mr. R. J. Flatt, formally presented the Report of the Commission on University Governmental Organization to the Board. After considerable discussion it was agreed that Board Chairman R. J. Prettie appoint a four-man ad hoc committee to study the report and to liaise with committees of Senate and the Alma Mater Society charged with the same responsibility.

The Heart of the Matter, life story of Father Pierre Teihard de Chardin, priest-scientist-philosopher, is 45 minutes in length.

The final interview with Dr. Carl Gustav Jung, a founder of modern psychology, runs for 38 minutes.

Admission for these unique presentations is free.

CANDU Discussion

Physics Professor, Dr. John Hart, who has been studying the Canadian energy scene, has some disturbing statistics concerning the development of new sources of heat for Canadian homes.

Dr. Hart believes that the Canadian nuclear power plant, CANDU, although rather expensive in terms of capital investment, is one of the most successful and safest in the world. He thinks its development has been under-emphasized by the Canadian government, perhaps because its merits and the serious nature of the impending energy crisis have not really been understood.

At the University's invitation, Mr. J. A. L. Robertson, who has prime responsibility for some of the most interesting aspects of the CANDU program, addressed faculty and students on this question on Friday, November 17.
