New Chiefs

The Prime Minister of Ontario, The Honourable William Davis, last week announced Cabinet realignments which have entirely changed the leadership of university affairs in Ontario. John White gave up the Department of Colleges and Universities to become Minister of Trade and Development as well as of Tourism and Information. George Kerr, former Minister of the Environment, took over the Colleges and Universities Portfolio.

John White, as one of his final official acts as Minister of Colleges and Universities, announced that Dr. James G. Parr, Dean of Applied Science, University of Windsor, has been appointed Acting Chairman of the Committee on University Affairs.

Dr. Parr replaces Dr. D. T. Wright who has resigned as Chairman of the Committee on University Affairs in view of his appointment as Deputy Secretary for Social Development Policy within the Government of Ontario.

Dr. Parr, a member of the Committee on University Affairs for three years, has also served on committees on capital studies and on educational technology established jointly by the Committee on University Affairs and the Council of Ontario Universities.

Dr. Parr served on the study group of the Science Council of Canada which produced Special Study No. 7 on the Role of the Federal Government in Support of Research in Canadian Universities (The Macdonald Report).

A Professor of Engineering Materials at the University of Windsor, Dr. Parr is the author of a number of technical papers, a member of the editorial Board of Science Forum, and a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada. He has spent twenty-three years in university teaching and research and, prior to his appointment at the University of Windsor, taught at the University of Alberta where he was also Vice-President of the Faculty Association.

Immediate Scrutiny

A draft report of the Commission on Post-secondary Education in Ontario has been distributed among members of the Senate and Board of Governors of Lakehead University. Further copies will be available in the next few days for all faculty and staff.

At the Senate meeting of January 27, an ad hoc committee was struck for the purpose of preparing a response to the report. That committee first met on Tuesday, February 8, under the acting chairmanship of Dr. Donald Eldon, Vice-President of the University. Other members included Mr. Grant Thompson, Comptroller; Mr. Ken Hearnden representing the University Schools; Dr. Elizabeth Arthur of the Faculty of Arts; Dr. P. Frederickson, Faculty of Science; Mr. J. Lovekin of the Faculty of Education; and two students appointed by the Alma Mater Society.

It was also resolved at the same meeting of Senate that the following standing committees should submit careful analyses of the draft report to the ad hoc committee: Admissions and Scholarships Academic Planning, Graduate Studies, Research and Library Committees.

Proposed Summer Courses

A tentative list of summer offerings is now available from the Extension Office, including summer programs to be offered in England, France and Spain.

First Signs Of Summer

A tentative Summer and Spring Term timetable has been posted on the Scheduling Bulletin Board in the Agora. For further information contact the Office of the Director of Extension and Summer School.

In spite of numerous references to summer on these pages, winter still holds the University in its icy grip. Temperatures hover around -20 degrees F, and it's difficult to believe that in two short months the McIntyre River (pictured above with Residence in the background) will be a raging spring torrent.

Extension Of Deadline

The Commission on University Governmental Organization has extended the deadline for the submission of briefs. If you are submitting a brief and wish further preparation time, please advise Mr. Hugh J. Parker as soon as possible as to when the Commission may expect to receive it.
